THE COMMUNITIES OF THE ELK VALLEY

In the heart of the majestic Canadian Rocky Mountains, the Elk Valley is a hidden oasis of verdant landscapes, charming towns and abundant recreation. For over 100 years, pioneers have travelled to the region, first in search of valuable minerals, and now seeking a sanctuary focused on family, community and the beautiful outdoors. Mining still forms the base of a thriving economy that has now diversified and welcomes a variety of artisans, small businesses, and an active year-round recreational and cultural tourism industry.

FERNIE is the largest and oldest of the 3 main communities in the Elk Valley. A town rich in heritage, award-winning architecture, and spectacular scenery, Fernie charms and delights all ages. Whether strolling century-old Historic Downtown, exploring the unique geography, visiting artists and artisans or revelling in the packed cultural calendar, there's something for everyone to enjoy.

Pop: 4,811 with a further 2,000 rural residents | Founded 1898 | Incorporated 1904

SPARWOOD lies in the middle of the valley and is the first community reached on entering from Alberta. The town's name is derived from the local trees that were used for manufacturing spars for ocean vessels. The town was founded as a new home for the residents of the temporary communities of Michel and Natal. Several art murals can be seen here depicting the strong connection to coal mining, some by Michelle Loughery who was born in the area and went on to become a world-renowned muralist.

Pop 4,200 | Founded 1966 -Celebrating 50 years in 2016

At the head of the valley is ELKFORD, a small town with a passionate arts community. Writing, painting, photography, and pottery are among the popular endeavours, and well-known glass artist Katherine Russell has a working studio here. Elkford is the gateway to the Elk Lakes Provincial Park, a remote protected area bordering Alberta's Kananaskis Country.

HERITAGE ARCHITECTURE

A DOWNTOWN WALKING TOUR OF FERNIE

As if alighting from an arriving train, begin a walking tour of Fernie at the former CPR Station, 501 1st Avenue, now the Fernie Arts Station. This tour visits 8 of Fernie's most iconic Historic Downtown buildings and features a variety of architectural styles and photo opportunities. Beautiful deep gold and rose-tinted brick and sandstone buildings line 2nd Avenue and are unique to Fernie. Look for evidence of the 1908 fire in the form of soot and smoke residue on the brickwork.

Accessible, paved sidewalks | Approx. 30 minutes - 1 hour

1 CPR STATION 601 1st Avenue | Now in use as The Arts Station

In its early years, the Canadian Pacific Railway station was the centre of activity in Fernie whenever a train stopped to unload passengers, mail, and other goods. As use of the automobile grew, rail travel declined and so did use of this Second-Class station. Passenger services were finally discontinued in 1964. The train tracks are still in daily use however, carrying the freight trains that regularly pass through the Elk Valley. The beautiful Rocky Mountaineer can also occasionally be spotted on a charter trip. Since 1987, the Fernie & District Arts Council has used this facility as a performing and fine arts venue. Dine trackside at the Blue Toque Café and imagine yourself arriving on the platform for the first time 100 years ago! See p18 for more.

2 THE HOME BANK

491 2nd Avenue | Now in use as The Fernie Museum and Visitor Information Centre

This highly decorative building was constructed in 1910 to house a branch of the Home Bank on the main floor and the Herchmer-Mitchel Law Office on the second floor. Except for the paint, the exterior is in its original configuration making this a significant heritage building. The failure of the Home Bank in 1923 cost Fernie depositors $800,000 and led to a rewriting of Canada's banking laws. These new rules prevented the widespread bank failures in the 1930s. See p8 for more.

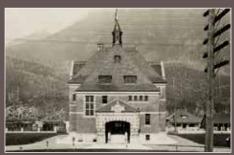

3 THE IMPERIAL BANK 1909 401 2nd Ave | Now in use as The Brickhouse Bar & Grill

On August 1, 1908, on the corner of 2nd Ave and 4th St, the members of the Fernie Fire Department made their last stand in the fight of the catastrophic fire that would consume Fernie in just 90 minutes. The Imperial Bank of Canada built a new bank here in 1909, using a standard small city branch design. The company merged with the Canadian Bank of Commerce in 1961 and closed the branch in 1963. Although some features have been altered, the brick and sandstone exterior retains many of its striking original features. Step inside for a taste of today; the Brickhouse serves up a large selection of Fernie Brewing Company Beers, BC wines and a tasty pub menu. The original bank vault is still in use as the chef's pantry.

4 THE COURT HOUSE
401 4th Ave | Now in use as
Fernie's Government of BC Offices

Lauded as one of BC's best buildings, the Court House is a spectacular chateau-style building rarely found in the area. Enjoy the grounds and beautiful views of the surrounding mountains. See p26 for more.

5 HOLY FAMILY CATHOLIC CHURCH

521 4th Avenue

The history of the church dates back to the beginning of Fernie when Father J. Welsh was sent from Cranbrook to hold masses for approximately 200 miners in 1898. Some of these miners donated one day's wages every month towards the construction of a place of worship and volunteer parishioners completed this church in 1912. It was and still is home to Fernie's largest congregation.

6 THE CROW'S NEST PASS COAL CO. OFFICES | 501 3rd Avenue | Now in use as City Hall

In 1905, the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. constructed this building as the head office to manage its expanding coal mining operations. It also housed the offices of the Crow's Nest Pass Electric Co. and the Morrissey-Fernie-Michel Railway, subsidiaries of the coal company. Constructed in cement blocks and standing on a spacious lot, the building survived the 1908 Great Fire and served as a place of refuge during and after the fire. It has served as Fernie's City Hall since 1984; Mayor Giuliano welcomes visitors. Located on the grounds, The Miner's Walk is a fascinating glimpse into Fernie's coal mining heritage. The walk features interpretive panels, sculpture, challenges for children, ironwork art from the Fernie Forge and municipal garden with picnic tables and benches.

7 THE FERNIE POST OFFICE AND CUSTOMS OFFICE

492 3rd Avenue | Now in use as the Fernie Heritage Library

This imposing Romanesque Revival building reflects Fernie's importance as a government centre for the region; the engraved stone signs above the entrance to the Post Office and Customs Office are still in place. The building, for a time, served as the US consul office for the region. Built in 1907, the building was gutted but not destroyed in the 1908 Great Fire. An exhibit on the 1908 Great Fire is located on the landing of the main staircase. See p22 for more.

8 FERNIE CARTAGE COMPANY 701 2nd Avenue | Now in use as Urban Settler and private residences

Unlike many businesses in Fernie's Historic Downtown, the Fernie Cartage Company rebuilt its livery using rubblestone from the banks of the Elk River, rather than brick, following the 1908 Great Fire, making it unique in downtown Fernie. For many years before automobiles were commonly used, the company delivered milk, coal, and other goods with a fleet of horse-drawn drays. In the 1920s, it was "The Up-To-Date Garage," servicing a number of makes of early automobiles, and owned by prominent Italian entrepreneur, Al Rizzuto.

The walk ends on the corner of 2nd Avenue & 7th Street. Take a stroll down Main Street, sometimes known as Victoria Avenue, and enjoy streetside patios, boutique shopping and cultural attractions (see attraction listings, p10). Visit working artists and artisans in their studios (see gallery listings, p20) and soak in the atmosphere of a town rich in history and heritage. Look up for the beautiful art banners on downtown lampposts featuring a variety of new local artwork.

THE FERNIE MUSEUM AND VISITOR INFORMATION CENTRE

At the centre of Historic Downtown, the Fernie Museum and Visitor Information Centre makes its home in the 1908 Home Bank building. Learn all about Fernie's rich and dramatic history and heritage, things to do, attractions, upcoming events, festivals and more.

INTERACTIVE EXHIBITS AND INNOVATIVE DISPLAYS

This Is Our Fernie explores the legend of a curse, fires that razed the town to the ground, and mining disasters that cut like a knife through the community. This main floor exhibit includes the interactive Fernie Faces audio/visual programs to explore history through the eyes of early residents, a mine tunnel and Discovery Drawers for the little ones to peek into, and a timeline that documents Fernie's evolution spanning an entire wall.

SUMMER GALLERY EXHIBIT AND PROGRAMS

Currents: Artists Explore the Elk River. The Elk River has multiple identities – it is a mountain river fed by glaciers, a place for recreation for residents and visitors alike, and it offers some of the best fly-fishing in North America. Located in the 2nd floor gallery, this exhibit explores the river's impact through artworks by local artists and interactive interpretive panels and activities. A program of special events further explores the Elk River.

Summer walking tours will be offered every Saturday and Sunday throughout July and August. Advance registration is recommended but not required.

691 2nd Ave | 250-423-7016 ferniemuseum.com

Fernie will rebuild. Fernie is populated by a people that is possessed with that indomitable western spirit that knows no such thing as failure, but continually follows the loadstone of success. Although there have been many distressing incidents, many losses, and many sorrowful cases of family distress, yet all will arise to the emergency presented and come out stronger and better than ever.

- Fernie Will Rise Again, The Cranbrook Herald, August 13, 1908

The Great Fire of 1908 was a dramatic, defining moment for Fernie that saw the community obliterated by fire in less than 90 minutes on August 1st, 1908. The fire claimed no lives, but the property loss was valued at over $5 million dollars, a staggering amount at the time. It was the second major fire in four years. In 1904, a fire destroyed much of Fernie's commercial core and led to the incorporation of the City of Fernie and the formation of the Fernie Fire Department.

The efforts of the firemen were no match for the 1908 firestorm; they surrendered where The Brickhouse Bar is today. People fled for the river. A Great Northern train passing through Fernie rescued many and took them to Hosmer. Surprisingly, over 16 homes survived, all at the far west end of Fernie. The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. offices (Fernie's City Hall today) also survived and became the place where refugees from the fire could obtain food and clothing. Nearby towns offered shelter, and supplies came from across Canada.

Reconstruction of the town quickly began and was largely completed by 1910. A number of the buildings were built from locally produced yellow brick. Many of the buildings seen today along Victoria (2nd) Avenue were restored in the 1980s with the assistance of provincial grants.

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. created Fernie as the industrial, commercial, government and cultural hub of the Elk Valley. Here, the company's head office was located and government services were quickly established to support the rapidly growing population.

Fernie has had four court houses since 1898. The first was a small building that was used for less than a year. The second, constructed in 1899, was a modest wood-frame building that housed a courtroom, a guardroom, a constable's room, a magistrate's chamber and four jail cells. It was quickly outgrown. Construction on Fernie's third, more substantial court house began in 1907 and was completed in spring 1908. It burned to the ground, along with most of Fernie, in the Great Fire of 1908. Read more p9.

The reconstruction of Fernie started almost immediately. For Fernie's fourth court house, a new larger site was chosen on Howland Avenue (4th Avenue). Designed by George Stanley Reese, construction of the new building began in May 1909 and was completed in 1911.

The Fernie Court House is arguably the community's grandest heritage building and is the only such court house of its kind in British Columbia. The Architecture Foundation recognized it as one of BC's best buildings in 2014. The balustrade, hand carved with British Columbia's provincial flower, the dogwood, and the stained glass located in the courtroom, entrance, and stairwell, are two of the many rich architectural details of this impressive heritage building. The building has undergone few changes since it was built. It is still in use as a court house, as well as offices for the Government of BC and visitors are welcome to view the original entrance lobby during regular office hours.

NATURAL HERITAGE THE FORESTS OF FERNIE

The Elk Valley's microclimate of sunny, warm summers and winters of light, dry snow have created a unique environment for flora and fauna and a rich ecological and geographical heritage.

MT FERNIE PROVINCIAL PARK & ISLAND LAKE LODGE

In the Cedar Valley located between Fernie and the Lizard Range, Ancient Western Red Cedars (pictured) line the trails and road to Island Lake Lodge. These trees are up to 800 years old and create a magnificent environment to enjoy Fernie's abundant natural history. An interpretive trail can be found in the Mt Fernie Provincial Park. Guided hiking is available at Island Lake Lodge.

ANCIENT COTTONWOOD TRAIL

In 2003, a grove of ancient Black Cottonwoods was discovered at Morrissey, approximately 14km from Fernie. Confirmed to be more than 400 years old, these trees are the oldest of their kind in the world and measure up to 10 metres around. A short trail with interpretive signage accesses the cathedral-like space.

The Fernie Trail Map is available online, at Fernie Visitor Centres and at outdoor shops.

The Coal Creek Heritage Trail is one of the area's most easily accessible hikes. The trail provides a fascinating glimpse into the history of coal mining in the Elk Valley. A series of 15 interpretive panels along the route tell the story of the people who once lived here and the industry that thrived in the Coal Creek Valley. Artifacts, historical ruins and even a sulphur spring can be spotted on the way.

William Fernie and twenty miners imported from Cape Breton started the region's first coal mine east of Fernie in preparation for the arrival of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The mine was in operation from 1897 to 1958 and was the heart of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. operations, along with the Michel-Natal mine.

The town of Coal Creek grew up around the mine. In is heyday, over 1,000 people of all nationalities lived in the community. An explosion at the Coal Creek mine on May 22, 1902 left 128 miners dead and remains one of Canada's worst mining disasters to this date. The mine closed after 61 years in operation, and today all that remains of this once vibrant community are ruins of the coke ovens and the mine plant, and imprints of the homes, stores, churches, and community halls that once proudly stood.

TRAILHEAD: The trail follows the abandoned Morrissey-Fernie-Michel Railway bed to the ghost town of Coal Creek and can be accessed from three trailheads: at the Fernie Aquatic Centre Trail Hub, at the Rifle Range on Coal Creek Road, or at the Coal Creek townsite.

From the Aquatic Centre the trail begins with the first section, ending at the entrance to St Mary's Cemetery. From here, follow Coal Creek Road to pick up the trail again at the Rifle Range Kiosk and continue to the townsite trailhead.

LEVEL OF DIFFICULTY: Beginner, with some short steep sections. Wear layered clothing and comfortable walking shoes. Take snacks and water. Always be aware of local wildlife when hiking in Fernie.

DISTANCE: Round trip is 14 km ELEVATION GAIN: Approx 200 m

THE KTUNAXA NATION LIVING CULTURE, LIVING TRADITIONS

For more than 10,000 years, the Ktunaxa people, also known as the Kootenai or Kootenay, have occupied a traditional territory that spans what is now known as southeastern British Columbia, Southwestern Alberta, and parts of Washington, Idaho and Western Montana.

For hundreds of generations, the Ktunaxa used the Elk Valley and the Crowsnest Pass as a trade and travel route through the Rocky Mountains. Twice a year, Bison hunts were coordinated on the prairies east of the Rockies until the bison population was decimated in the mid-1800s.

The Elk Valley area was the primary home of the easternmost branch of the Ktunaxa people, who are closely connected to families living at what is now Tobacco Plains. The Michel Prairie people, after whom the town of Michel was named, used the area near Sparwood to plant tobacco. Their Ktunaxa name is kaqawakanmituqnik and means "river running into and out again" (the Michel Creek into the Elk River).

Despite being subjected to 120 years of living on Indian Reserves, and decades of forced attendance at a Residential School at the St. Eugene Mission near Cranbrook, the Ktunaxa Nation continues to be a strong and thriving community. Today, there are more than 1,500 members in the BC communities of ?akisqnuk, ?aqam, ?akinkum+asnuq+i?it, and yaqan nu?kiy. There are two Bands in Idaho and Montana connected by language and culture but politically independent.

Visitors to the region can learn more about the Ktunaxa by visiting the St. Eugene Mission Interpretive Centre and the Fernie Museum. A pull-out near Michel Creek at the former townsite of Michel offers visitors further information about the Michel Plains people.

The Ktunaxa Nation Council is located in Cranbrook.

THE ARTS STATION

It is hard to imagine that an old railway station built in 1908 in a small corner of British Columbia would today be the source for foot-stomping concerts, mouth-watering hotcakes and aweinspiring paintings. If you've ever visited The Arts Station in Fernie, though, you'll know it to be true. The Arts Station is the heart of the arts in Fernie, a place where hundreds of painters, weavers, guitarists and guilders gather to expand their talents and inspire one another in a way that almost always involves community. The Arts Station is a home amongst artists and art-lovers, a place where anyone can take a moment to think quietly about a painting on the brick mantelpiece or sip on martinis while dancing to folk rock.

Originally a Canadian Pacific Railway station, the building suffered from vandalism and overall wear for decades before a refurbishing in 1991 — led by a group of volunteers — brought it to its current valuable state. Today the main lobby acts as a gallery space with new artists featured each month and the original ticket office is home to the inviting Blue Toque Diner. The old luggage room is a 100-seat theatre and the basement is a potters' delight.

Having celebrated 25 years in November 2015, the Station has established its place in the local arts community. The many people behind it play host to the popular outdoor summer concert series and socials, festivals, film screenings, presentations, art classes and workshops, and even the occasional wedding or birthday party. Flowers bloom from barrels on the wraparound deck in the summer and it is a cozy space for an acoustic set when the snow falls. No matter the time of year, there is always something going on at The Arts Station. Be sure to make it a part of your visit to Fernie.

Following a ten-year period of university education in fine art that culminated in a Bachelor in Fine Arts with distinction, Angela Morgan settled in Fernie to raise a family and work full-time on her art.

Recently established in one of downtown Fernie's historic buildings, the former Trites-Wood Hardware Store, she paints with a dedication and organization that belies the lively and colourful nature of her work, celebrating humanity through the use of colour, pattern, and line. Her human figures express the poses of life, the jubilation of dance, the contemplation of parenthood, and the melancholy of summer's end. Colours fuse and meld to achieve gesture, transforming abstract images into living moments.

During open hours, visitors can experience the artist's studio in action where Angela can be found working on new pieces for any one of her 14 permanent galleries. The studio produces around 40-60 pieces per month in her trademark colourful oils, and Angela is enthusiastic to see what the space will bring in terms of new creative output. Pen & ink pieces, sculptural work and life studies are all potential future pursuits, while some smaller studies, mixed media pieces and other works are available for sale.

A new arrangement has brought traditional printmaker Michael Hepher into the space and both artists are excited about the inspirational nature of the shared space. A focused fine artist with an eye for creative colouring and whimsical large-scale subject matter, working next to a musically inclined typographer creating print pieces within the confines of traditional type and antique letterpresses is sure to be a fascinating journey of creativity and inspiration.

The Fernie Heritage Library has been a centre of the community of Fernie, providing library service and programs, for over one hundred years. Housed in a beautiful historic building in the heart of Fernie, the Library offers a welcoming and inviting space for discovery, inspiration, and recreation.

A range of engaging programming suitable for all ages from toddlers to seniors is offered throughout the year both inside the library and out in the community. Programs include reading groups and book launches, children's activities inspired by literature, and special events such as the Earth Day Celebrations and Lego Engineers Day, and most programs are free to attend. Library service is available to residents and visitors alike. The Library offers 3 floors of books, magazines, and reference materials, plus a research and study room, computer services, faxing, photocopying and scanning. The Library Book Bike is a regular sight at local events and gathering places throughout the summer and fall. The Library Gardens provide a relaxing spot for reading, with spectacular views of the Lizard Range and Mt Fernie.

The library hosts regular community events such as the wildly successful Booked! Fernie Writers' Series, welcoming a number of Canada's top literary talents to Fernie for popular receptions. Fernie has a strong history of supporting the literary arts and has become a favourite destination among authors. Enthusiastic and informed audiences, complimented by the gorgeous heritage building in a beautiful mountain setting, make for a welcoming environment for authors from coast to coast. The library also hosts popular events for the community such as the Bibbity Bobbity Boo Children's Festival, the Lemonade Social, and the Halloween Howler.

FEATURE AUTHOR ANGIE ABDOU

Angie Abdou moved to Fernie in the late 1990s. Though she makes her home partly in Alberta now, as a Professor of Creative Writing at Athabasca University, she is still active in Fernie's literary community. She is an award-winning author who published her first book Anything Boys Can Do in 2006 and her first novel, The Bone Cage, in 2007.

The Bone Cage became the inaugural One Book One Kootenay. With that honour came a 16-library tour throughout the East and West Kootenay, which Angie did with a toddler and baby in tow. The Bone Cage went on to be a CBC Canada Reads finalist in 2011, where it was championed by NHL star Georges Laraque. In 2012, The Bone Cage was named MacEwan Book of the Year, putting Angie in a prestigious group of authors, including Margaret Atwood and Yann Martel and Michael Ondaatje. Next, Angie published a satire of ski culture called The Canterbury Trail. It won an IPPY gold medal (an award for independent publishing) and was named a finalist for the Banff Mountain Book of the Year.

Angie's most recent novel is Between (2014, Arsenal Press). It explores the lives of working mothers and Filipino nannies and has been reviewed extremely favourably by critics in The Globe and Mail, National Post, Winnipeg Review, and Vancouver Sun, as well as by the book industry's publication The Quill and Quire. It launched in the US in April 2015, and New York's Library Journal listed it as a Top 13 Indie Pick for Spring 2015. Between was named a "Best of 2014" book by PRISM Magazine, 49th Shelf, and The Vancouver Sun. Angie's novel-in-progress is a ghost story set in the Rocky Mountains. She is a co-organizer of the Booked! Fernie Writers' Series.

The Wapiti Music Festival, now in its sixth year, has become a highlight of summer in Fernie. In a town made famous for its winters, summer is a multi-faceted jewel of amazing adventures and sizzling surprises, fervent days and refreshing evenings. With an abundance of outdoor activities book-ended by great indoor food and entertainment, a music festival combining all the above fits the town's zeitgeist like a custom-molded ski boot.

A couple thousand fun-lovers descend on Annex Park next to the Elk River at the foot of Mt. Fernie to loll and dance the weekend away every August. A visitor friendly festival with the feel of a local's event, Wapiti has become a fixture and a must do for new and familiar visitors to town.

The music of Wapiti is fresh, Canadian, indie. A tag line that hints at fun, friendly, frenetic, and only loosely categorizable. It's a description that also fits the average Fernieite or visitor right down to the grass between their toes.

An approachable event for those toting along friends or family of all ages, Wapiti hits all the right notes whether you want to chill or revel. With art installations, an eclectic food village, craft-filled marketplace, and fun merchandise on hand, Wapiti is a festival for your senses. Whether you're in Fernie to live, shop, eat, play, or just soak up Fernie's summer chill, you'll find a spot to lay your blanket at Wapiti.

WEDNESDAY CONCERT SERIES

For the fifth year running, music will fill the Historic Downtown of Fernie, bringing residents and visitors together to enjoy live entertainment, food, and refreshments, and an opportunity to socialize through the Wednesday Concert Series. Held weekly in July and August, these events are free and welcome all ages, tastes and backgrounds. Organizers work hard to represent an array of musical genres to satisfy all interests and perhaps spark new ones. With nine Wednesdays this summer, the lineup is not only diverse, it has some of the biggest names the series has ever known.

Kicking off the season is the West Coast's Jocelyn Pettit Band, playing original and traditional music inspired by Canadian and Celtic cultures. Later that month, Fernie welcomes The Cave Singers – an Indie Rock band from Seattle, Washington who recently released their fifth album, Banshee. The tone changes in early August, as Po' Ramblin' Boys hit the outdoor stage. This Bluegrass band from Tennessee will play high-energy music from their debut album, Back to the Mountains.

This is just a taste of what's on offer and with each week building off the last, you won't want to miss a Wednesday Concert this summer. For dates and band names, see calendar, p25.

COMING THIS FALL & WINTER

The cultural scene shifts focus in September as weekly and monthly entertainment series' begin and special arts events fill the cultural calendar. The popular monthly Indie Films Fernie series brings the best independent films to Fernie for a single night screening at the Vogue Theatre from September through to April, while Canadian and international talents take to the stage for the concert series at the Arts Station. Also at the Arts Station, look for the 'What the Dickens' Christmas Festival running throughout the month of December plus monthly Gallery opening receptions.

Film Festivals are a highlight of Fernie's winter, with the Reel Canadian Film Festival showcasing the best of Canada's film-making talent in January, and the Fernie Mountain Film Festival celebrating mountain culture in February. The Booked! Fernie Writers'
Series brings four literary heavyweights to the Fernie Heritage Library during the cooler months.

Watch for the fall/winter issue of this guide coming soon!

THE LEGEND OF THE GHOSTRIDER

On sunny evenings, look to the north as the sun sets, and watch the shadowy figure of Fernie's Ghostrider ride out from the face of Mt Hosmer. Shrouded in myth and legend, this icon and mascot of Fernie binds past and present in perpetuity.

Experience Fernie this summer.
